

NEW PROPERTY IS ACQUIRED

Members of Seymour Public Service Company Buy Lebanon Light Plant.

C. E. LAYTON TO BE IN CHARGE

He is Secretary and Treasurer of The Company.—Will Move From Here.

The members of the Seymour Public Service Company with the addition of T. A. Scott, a millionaire Ohio Manufacturer have acquired a valuable electric light property at Lebanon, Indiana. While the new plant is purchased by the owners of the Seymour Public Service Company, it will of course not be operated under that name.

C. E. Layton, who has been in charge here will have the management of the Lebanon plant and expects to move there later. He will not leave Seymour until the construction work on the Seymour plant is completed. The Lebanon Daily Reporter says of the deal there:

The sale of the Citizens Electric Light & Power Co.'s plant here is today announced as having been positively closed. The announcement does not come from either R. A. Edwards or G. R. Chamberlain, of Peru, who have been operating the plant, but from the purchasers, the Seymour, (Ind.) Public Service Company.

The directors of the company are T. C. McReynolds, W. W. Layton, C. W. McReynolds, T. A. Scott and C. E. Layton.

The announcement as it was received at the local electric light office this morning is in the nature of a card to the public and is as follows:

"The Citizens Electric Light & Power Co., of Lebanon, has been purchased by people who have had long experience in the operation of public utility properties and especially in the handling of electric light plants.

"C. E. Layton, who becomes the new secretary and treasurer, will have charge of the management of the company and can be counted upon to furnish a good reliable electric service. Mr. Layton will move to Lebanon early next spring where he will make his permanent home. He is a graduate of Purdue University and is now located at Seymour, Ind., where he is engaged in rebuilding the electric light plant. Mr. Layton was manager of the plant at Noblesville for three years and was also connected with the Kokomo, Marion & Western Traction Co. for some time, of which T. C. McReynolds is general manager. Mr. McReynolds, who has been elected president of the Lebanon company, is operating at Kokomo one of the best conducted electric light and traction companies in the state and is a former president of the Indiana Electric Light Association.

"The present policy of the company will not be greatly changed, Supt. Jones remaining with the company in his present capacity. Electric fixtures and wiring will be handled by the company at a very moderate cost for the benefit and convenience of the electric patrons.

"Mr. G. W. Norwood, Sr., is well acquainted with our people."

FATHER UNABLE TO FIND MISSING SON

W. T. Barnes, From Near Uniontown, Fears Some Accident Has Be-Fallen His Son, Orville.

WAS TRACED TO INDIANAPOLIS

Mother of Boy Is In a Serious Condition From Worry.—Indianapolis Police Notified.

W. T. Barnes, from near Uniontown, was in the city today meeting every southbound train and interurban car hoping that upon one of them would be his sixteen year old son, Orville, who had written that he would return home from Fowler Sunday evening. The lad left home about nine months ago and went to Fowler where he accepted employment upon a farm for Frank Combs. A few weeks ago he went to Illinois to assist his brother in husking corn, but returned to the Combs farm last week and informed his parents that he would come home Sunday.

When the boy did not arrive on the evening trains his father became somewhat worried and telephoned to Mr. Combs asking if he had started home. Mr. Combs replied that the lad left his farm in the morning, and stated that he intended to arrive Sunday evening, leaving Indianapolis at 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Barnes, the boy's mother, is suffering from a nervous collapse as a result of worry, and is in a serious condition. His father returned here this morning with his son-in-law and made every effort to locate him but they were unsuccessful. Mr. Barnes fears that some harm has come to his son, for he says he was very anxious to get home again and would not delay his journey. He declared that the boy did not drink and had no bad habits whatever and would have no desire to remain in Indianapolis.

The chief of police at Indianapolis was called up over the telephone this morning and asked if the department had heard anything regarding the boy. He replied that no information had come to him concerning the lad. He was given the description of the boy and said he would make an effort to locate him if he was in the city.

The parents of the boy believe that he has met with some accident and are greatly worried about him. The boy was much larger than the average boy of his age, and many would take him for a grown man.

REV. JAMES H. HAWK CALLED AS PASTOR

Call Extended by Presbyterial Church to Well-known Minister is Accepted.

GIVEN HIGH RECOMMENDATION

The Rev. Mr. Hawk Has Held Pastorates at Indianapolis And Other Important Charges.

The members of the congregation of the Presbyterian church have been notified that their call to the Rev. James H. Hawk, of Orleans, to become the pastor of the church here, has been accepted and that he will begin his pastorate here about the first of the year. Several weeks ago, the Rev. Mr. Hawk delivered two sermons at the local church which were well received and met with the approval of the congregation. He was the choice of the congregation of several strong ministers who have occupied the local pulpit during the past few weeks. The new pastor has held several large charges and comes well recommended.

The Rev. Mr. Hawk has held pastorates at Bluffton, Greenfield, Orleans and one of the largest Presbyterian churches in Indianapolis. At all of these his work was rewarded with the highest degree of success. Besides being an excellent speaker he possesses those qualities of friendship and congeniality which make him popular wherever he lives. The new pastor will have a successful pastorate here and will have the cooperation of the members of the congregation.

The members of the church have just contracted for a fine new pipe organ which will be installed within a few months. The organ will be one of the latest designs in the city.

The ladies of the church have purchased a new carpet for the auditorium, and several other improvements have been contemplated which will greatly beautify the interior of the church.

CHRISTMAS FUND

Gladden the Hearts And Homes of Many in Seymour.

There are a few homes in Seymour where Santa Claus is not in the habit of making his annual visit. To supplement his work a fund will be started at once with which to purchase not only toys that will make the children's eyes sparkle with delight, but to supply Christmas dinners and to furnish other useful articles of clothing and food to lighten the burden of some who see little but the hard struggle necessary to make ends meet in supplying the family necessities.

The Daily Republican has been asked to receive contributions for this purpose and commencing tomorrow will publish the list of contributors and the amounts for this fund which will be distributed later by a carefully selected committee. Any person wishing to contribute for this purpose may leave the money at this office and receive proper credit.

GARFIELD BOHALL BEGINS SENTENCE

Taken To Prison at Michigan City To Begin Life Sentence For Killing Brother.

WAS IN CHARGE OF SHERIFF

Prisoner Was Met at The Station by Wife and Father Who Bid Him a Sad Farewell.

Garfield Bohall, who was found guilty of killing his brother, Thornton Bohall, and given a life sentence, was taken to Michigan City prison this morning where he will begin his long sentence. The prisoner was in the custody of county sheriff Jerry McOsker.

He was met here by his father and wife and the scene of his departure was, indeed, sad. His father met him at the B. & O. S-W. station and accompanied him to the Pennsylvania station where the prisoner's wife had been waiting for several hours.

The Bohall case has attracted much attention and the trials have been watched with great interest. The prisoner was first indicted by the grand jury for murder in the first degree, but at his first trial, the jury was unable to agree upon a verdict, and were discharged. His second trial was held at the last term of court and he was found guilty of murder in the second degree. Judge Shea pronounced the sentenced a few days ago, after overruling a motion filed by the defendant's attorneys asking for a new trial. An appeal has been taken to the supreme court, but pending the decision of that court the prisoner will be taken to prison where he begins his sentence.

The facts connected with the murder, it will be remembered were somewhat unusual. Garfield, Thornton and William Bohall were visiting at the home of their father one Sunday. During the afternoon the latter two became engaged in a little difficulty, regarding one of the children feeding the chickens. They finally came to blows, and upon the request of his mother, Garfield started to separate his brothers. It is said one of them refused to follow his advice, whereupon Garfield said he would show them. It is said that he then went into the barn and returned with a gun and shot Thornton, who died a few minutes later.

When the trials were heard, the defense argued that Garfield was cleaning the gun and that when he was called by his mother to separate his brothers he brought the gun with him, but did not intend to use it in any way. While he was endeavoring to separate his brothers, it is alleged, the gun was accidentally discharged and the bullet struck his brother, Thornton, causing his death.

TAFT NAMES MEN FOR HIGH COURT

Justice White To Succeed
Chief Justice Fuller.

AN INDIANA MAN ALSO NAMED

Judge Willis Vandevanter, a Native Hoosier, Will Succeed to Vacancy Caused by Resignation of Justice Moody, and Judge Lamar of Augusta Will Succeed to Place Vacated by Advancement of White.

Washington, Dec. 12.—To take the place left vacant by Melville W. Fuller, Associate Justice Edward Douglas White of Louisiana will be advanced to the chief justiceship of the supreme court.

Joseph R. Lamar of Augusta, Ga., former justice of the supreme court of that state, will be appointed an associate justice to succeed to the place left open by the advancement of Justice White.

Judge Willis Vandevanter of the Eighth judicial circuit will be named as associate justice to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Justice Moody.

Justice White and Mr. Lamar are Democrats and Judge Vandevanter is a Republican. The supreme court, when all the vacancies are filled, will stand six Republican and three Democrat.

President Taft has also made the following selections for the newly created commerce court: Presiding judge, to serve for five years, Martin A. Knapp of New York, the present chairman of the interstate commerce commission; judges of the court, Robert W. Archbald, now United States district judge of Pennsylvania, to serve four years; William H. Hunt of Montana, now associate justice of the customs court, to serve for three years; United States District Judge A. F. Dennison of Michigan, to serve for two years, and Julian W. Mack, a lawyer of Chicago, to serve for one year.

The president will appoint Prof. B. H. Meyer of Wisconsin, now a member of the Wisconsin railroad commission and the new federal railroad securities investigating committee to the interstate commerce commission, to take the place left vacant by the advancement of Chairman Knapp. C. C. McChord, a lawyer of Louisville, Ky., will be named to succeed F. M. Cockrill on the commission upon the expiration of the latter's term on Jan. 1.

The more important of the president's judicial selections have been definitely settled. The names of the men chosen were obtained from sources outside the White House, and the officials there declined either to confirm or deny the authenticity of the list. The president will send the full list of his nominations to the senate today for confirmation.

The selection of Justice White for chief justice came as a big surprise to official Washington, chiefly because he is a Democrat. When his name is sent to the senate it will be the first time that a Republican president has ever nominated a member of an opposing political party to this high office.

Justice White is sixty-five years old and has been a member of the supreme court for sixteen years. He has earned the reputation of being one of the ablest justices on the bench.

The advancement of Justice White will place a Confederate veteran in the highest judicial position in this country. Associate Justice Lurton, who was also appointed by Mr. Taft, is a Confederate veteran.

Judge Joseph R. Lamar, who has been named to take the place left va-ent by Justice White's advancement, is fifty-three years old. He was born in Georgia and is one of the leaders of the southern bar. President Taft made Justice Lamar's acquaintance when he was spending the winter in Augusta after his election, and he came to admire the justice and to prize his friendship.

Judge Vandevanter, who is named to take the place left by the resignation of Justice Moody, was born in Marion, Ind., and is now fifty-one years old. He was one of the judges of the Eighth circuit who voted against the Standard Oil company in the decision which is now pending on appeal before the supreme court. Mr. Vandevanter was graduated from Asbury (now DePauw) university, and was a graduate of Cincinnati law school in 1881. After three years of practice in Indiana, he moved to Cheyenne, Wyo., and was appointed chief justice of the supreme court of Wyoming in 1889, while it was still a territory, and served later in the capacity by election. In 1897 he was appointed assistant attorney general of the United States and in 1903 was appointed United States circuit judge of the Eighth district, and has served there since.

SCHENK SHAMMING SAY THE LAWYERS

Contention of Defense In Alleged Poisoning Case.

Wheeling, W. Va., Dec. 12.—J. J. P. O'Brien and S. O. Boyce of counsel for Laura Farnsworth Schenk, accused of poisoning her millionaire husband, J. O. Schenk, had their first interview with Mr. Schenk Sunday. It lasted only fifteen minutes, and it was held in the presence of Dr. Frank LeMoine Hupp, the attending physician, who held the pulse of the patient and said it leaped every time a question was asked.

The attorneys explained afterward that it was only a social call, and they did not enter into the question of whether Schenk wanted his wife prosecuted. They asked him only two questions bearing on the case, and they refused to state what these were. Attorney O'Brien, who is Mrs. Schenk's leading counsel, said he found Mr. Schenk to all appearances a well man, looking as robust as he ever did and showing no traces of sickness. It is a contention of the defense that Schenk has not been all at all, or that the seriousness of his condition was greatly exaggerated.

CHURCH SYMBOLS BURNED ON CHILD DURING DREAM.

Curious Phenomena Reported by Authorities at Irish Convent.

The Mayo (Ireland) News publishes an account of a child in Kiltmogh convent who is marked with the symbols of the Passion. It says:

"A girl, aged thirteen, so goes the story, has been a boarder in the convent for the past three or four years. She is described as a docile, affectionate child and is a great favorite with the nuns.

"About three weeks ago one of the sisters heard the child screaming during the night, and when she saw Christ on the cross and a soldier driving a lance into his side. The nun comforted the child, who fell asleep.

"In the morning the child complained that her wrist and arms were sore. On examination it was found that her forearm was marked with a cross in red. Underneath the cross were the letters 'I. H. S.'

"A few days later there appeared below the letters a crown of thorns. Two or three days later there appeared above the cross letters surrounded by a scroll.

"A few days subsequently there appeared beneath the crown of thorns a chalice surmounted by a host, sending forth rays in red, and after the same period there appeared a flower shaped drawing, near which was written the word 'lily.'

"The marks extend from the wrist to the upper arm and have been examined by Father O'Hara, P. P., Kiltmogh; Dr. Madden, Kiltmogh, and very many others.

"A remarkable feature of the occurrence is that at 3 p. m. on Friday the stigmata bled copiously. A careful inquiry is being instituted by the religious authorities, who, while admitting the strikingly wonderful nature of the phenomena, refrain at present from any expression of opinion as to its origin.

"Dr. Madden and others who have seen the marks are quite positive that they are not self inflicted."

It is hardly half a century since the first white man penetrated to Uganda. He, as Sir Frederick Treves mentions in his new book on the country, was "a specialized and complex product of civilization in the form of an undischarged bankrupt fleeing from his creditors"—a Baluch soldier, by name Isan bin Hussein. "The Baganda, being fond of anything new, received this rara avis with effusion and made much of him. So highly were his qualities prized that he became a person of influence in their midst and the possessor of 300 wives."

A change in the working hours on the west side at the B. & O. Southwestern railroad shops in this city took effect Saturday. The men employed in the car department will not work on Saturday and only eight hours during the week. Those in the passenger department mill room, and paint shop will also do no work on Saturday and only eight hours during the week days.

The laborers in the yards will work but nine hours a day. No cause has been given out for this reduction. Thirty of the foreign laborers recently employed by the company were let out Friday.

A change in the checking in and out system is also being prepared and will be inaugurated about the middle of next week. The old check system will be done away with and the men will receive a card when they go to work on which they will take the number of hours and what kind of work they were employed upon. A rack is being made to hold all of the cards used. This system is far more complicated than the former and will require more clerks, but is a more systematic basis.—Washington Herald.

THE COAL TRUST GETS BLACK EYE

Federal Court Says It Is Violating the Sherman Act.

ONLY A PARTIAL VICTORY

Decision of the United States Circuit Court Sitting at Philadelphia in the Case of the Temple Iron Company is an Important Step in the Government's Purpose to Disrupt Combination Controlling Anthracite Trade.

Philadelphia, Dec. 9.—The United States circuit court has declared the Temple Iron company, owned and controlled by six railroads who dominate about nine-tenths of the anthracite coal in Pennsylvania, to exist in violation of the Sherman act.

The decision was given by Judges Gray and Bullington. The third member, Judge Lanning, gave a dissenting vote to the effect that the evidence did not prove the company is an illegal combination. By this decision the United States wins an important but only a partial victory. When it began the action in June, 1907, it was with a set purpose to disrupt the combination for control of the anthracite trade.

Until 1899 the Temple company was little but a charter. Since then it has been an active operating coal company. The company bought from Simpson & Watkins ten anthracite coal companies near Scranton, issuing in payment $2,200,000 out of $5,000,000 stock and $3,500,000 4 per cent mortgage and collateral trust bonds out of an authorized issue of $15,000,000.

Other agreements executed the same day transferred ownership of the $2,500,000 Temple Iron company stock and of such additional part of the $5,000,000 total stock authorized as might be issued to six companies, they also guaranteeing the Temple Iron company bonds in like percentage as they received the stock, as follows: Reading company, 29.96 per cent; Lehigh Valley company, 22.88 per cent; Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, 17.12 per cent; Delaware, Lackawanna & Western company, 19.52 per cent; Erie railroad 5.84 per cent, and New York, Susquehanna & Western company, 4.68.

The coal trust suit was directed against fourteen anthracite roads and forty-five other companies and operators controlling more than 90 per cent of the anthracite lands of Pennsylvania and three-quarters of the output of hard coal.

CUBAN LAWMAKERS IN DEADLY BATTLE

They Meet Near Palace and Begin Shooting.

Havana, Dec. 10.—Severo Moleon and Sanchez Figueras, both Liberal members of the house of representatives, met near the government palace and exchanged sixteen shots. Moleon fired first, and Figueras ran around a corner until he could draw his pistol. Then he returned and opened fire. After two bystanders had been hit Moleon fell, whereupon Figueras, who had been wounded in the stomach, approached him and put his revolver to Moleon's head and pulled the trigger. The weapon, however, was empty and before it could be reloaded the police arrived and arrested Figueras. Moleon died and Figueras, the doctors say, cannot survive. The other two men who were hit were not mortally wounded.

The shooting was an outcome of the division among the Liberals over trading the arsenal property on the water front for property of the United Railways company, which has caused stormy scenes in the house, where pistols have been flourished and fists used.

VERDICT APPLAUDED

Tumultuous Demonstration Follows Acquittal of Menlo Moore.

Vincennes, Ind., Dec. 10.—Menlo E. Moore, proprietor of a local theater, was acquitted of the charge of having murdered Charles Edward Gibson, a wealthy oil operator, on the morning of Oct. 3. The defense was that Moore was driven to kill Gibson by a story which his wife told him regarding her relations with Gibson. The demonstration which followed the reading of the verdict was tumultuous. The words had barely fallen from the lips of the county clerk before cheer after cheer rent the close air of the courtroom. Hats were thrown into the air, women screamed and then came a rush for the platform, where Moore was sitting. In the scramble women led and many had their dresses almost torn off in the rush.

Some of the women, aided by male friends of Moore, tried to lift him to their shoulders. Others rushed to the jury box, where the twelve men were sitting quietly watching the demonstration. Soon the jurors were surrounded by an enthusiastic crowd and almost mobbed by people who wished to congratulate them.

Shouts and cheers continued all through the scene and Judge Cobb, who had requested that there be no demonstration, seeing it was powerless to check it, quietly left the courtroom.

ECONOMY TO BE THE WATCHWORD

Governor Marshall Impresses This Upon Indiana Senators.

MUST KEEP WITHIN INCOME

"The State Has Been Spending More Money Than It Has Been Taking in," He Says, "and It Is Up to the Democratic Party to Put a Stop to This Practice."—Platform Pledges Must Be Kept, He Says.

Indianapolis, Dec. 9.—Yesterday afternoon the Democratic members of the state senate met here for the purpose of considering legislation and determined to hurry into effect every pledge of the platform. Some of the members believed that a high license, limitation of saloons to inhabitants, and some restrictions about the traffic would be more in harmony with the will of the people than township and city local option, and it seems that there will be some differences on this subject, but in respect to other things demanded by the platform there was perfect accord. The senators called upon Governor Marshall, who warned them that party pledges must be kept. "You know those pledges as well as I do," said he. "They are in black and white. Unless the Democratic party redeems every one of them, the people will put an end to our power in two years. In the first place there must be strict economy. I advise you to not take any more people in your employ than you actually need. The state has been spending more money than it has been taking in, and it is up to the Democratic party to put a stop to this practice. Unless you cut down expenses and practice economy you will have to increase the tax rate, and this is the very thing the Democratic party promised not to do.

"I shall ask you to pass two appropriation bills, one for the maintenance of the institutions and the other for specific purposes. I shall be able to show you just how much money the state will have in the next two years, and it will be up to you to keep within that income. This is not the time or the place to go into details, but I wish again to impress on you the fact that we must redeem every pledge we made to the people."

New York, Dec. 10.—Michael Rizzo, the six-year-old boy who was kidnapped from in front of his grandfather's grocery store in Brooklyn several weeks ago, was found last night on the street in Harlem's Little Italy, hungry and crying from the cold. He had evidently been turned loose by his captors.

Football.

The game of football is said to have originated with the early Celtic inhabitants of England. It is certainly as old as the Christian era. The game was immensely popular all through the middle ages and appears to have been from the start the same dangerous thing that it is today. It was repeatedly censured and opposed by the authorities, and an attempt at its suppression was made under Henry IV., Henry VIII. and Elizabeth, but the game continued to be played until about 1650. Revived about the beginning of the eighteenth century, it has since then steadily grown in popularity and is today one of the most popular of English and American sports.—New York American.

Whistler's Conceit.

Whistler's amusing personal conceit was charmingly displayed on one occasion when A. G. Plowden, a London police magistrate, attended a private view at the Grosvenor gallery. "Almost the first friend I met," he said, "was Whistler, and he very good naturedly took me up to a full length portrait which he was exhibiting of Lady Archibald Campbell. After I had done my best to express my humble appreciation of a beautiful picture I asked him if there were any other pictures which he would advise me to look at. 'Other pictures,' exclaimed Whistler, in a tone of horror. 'Other pictures! There are no other pictures! You are through!'"

TALK NOT OF AGE.

By ALFRED AUSTIN.
[Poet laureate of England.]

TALK not of age. The wasting years
Leave one more wise as they depart.
And with them mingle smiles and tears
If one but young remains at heart.
The seasons come, the seasons go,
But with reviving days return
Till winter's evanescent snow
Melts in the laughing, weeping burn.

And when the cuckoo calls again
The sap of April floods one's veins,
And as he flies from glen to glen,
Rejoicing in spring's sunlit rains,
I feel as young as ever he,
Seeking him near, afar, above,
Echoing his name in playful glee
Of faithless undomestic love.

Nor when deep summer silence rests
On windless thicket, sheltered lawn,
From thoughtful hearts and plumed breasts
Is nature's sympathy withdrawn,
The faithful cuckoo faintly heard
Repeats the simple note of home,
Teaching the lesson, wisest bird,
How best are those not prone to roam.

True to Her Sex.

A certain militant suffragist in West Philadelphia has a seven-year-old daughter who has imbibed her mother's principles with regard to the intellectual efficiency of women.

In school the other day the teacher was telling the class something about hens.

"You can't teach a hen anything," she said. "You can teach a dog or a cat, but you can't teach a hen. There is nothing so stupid as a hen."

The suffragist's daughter threw her curly head back defiantly and contradicted the teacher then and there. "That's not fair," she burst out, "and I don't think it's true. I guess a hen knows every bit as much as a rooster. So there!"—Philadelphia Times.

SAYS SANTA MUST GO.

Boston Woman Would Substitute Franklin For St. Nicholas.

Santa Claus will no longer be a Christmas visitor. He will go completely and forever into the discard if Miss Lotta Clark of Boston can bring it about. In St. Nick's place she would install Benjamin Franklin.

Miss Clark is the originator of a movement to abolish the genial Santa on the ground that he is purely an imaginary fellow and that it would be much better and, in fact, have a great educational value if there should be substituted some historical character in the truthful record of whose life children could find a praiseworthy example to follow.

Benjamin Franklin she considers the best qualified historical figure for the substitute.

"Why should children flock around the dreadful, tawdry images of Santa Claus," she said, "when a representation of Benjamin Franklin, for instance, would be much more real to them? The children know that Santa Claus is only a myth, and, after all, they don't want what is artificial."

ALPHABET FOUND ON RIB.

Relic of 1000 A. D. Is Found In Sweden by Excavators.

At Lund, in west Sweden, well known for its university and ancient cathedral, where in heathen times there was a far famed temple, there has just been found a complete Runic alphabet engraved on the rib of a stag. Besides the alphabet, there is the name of the owner or the engraver.

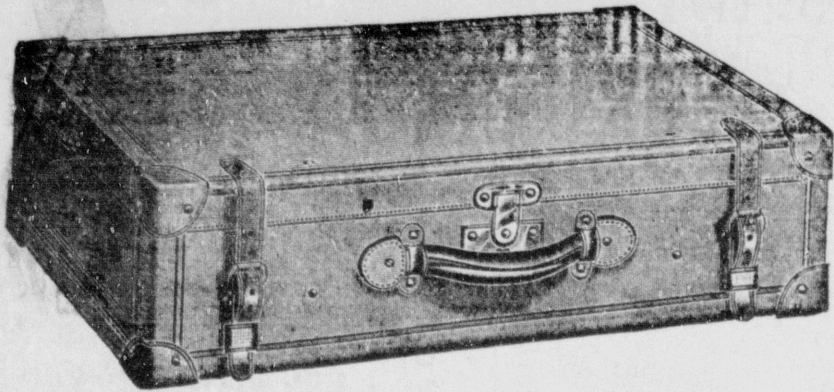

The rib is six and a half inches long and was found by some workmen who were digging the foundations for a new building facing the principal square in the town.

Dr. Karlin of the Historical museum in Lund believes the alphabet dates from about the year 1000, possibly even earlier, and he pronounces the discovery to be one of the most remarkable ever made in Scandinavia.

WOMEN PRAISED FOR GOOD WORK

The Only Two Institutions of Their Kind in the World.

INDIANA'S NOTABLE PROGRESS

Legislative Committee's Visit to the Woman's Prison and the Girls' Industrial School Reveals the Gratifying Contrast Between Present Conditions and Those Which Obtained in "the Old Days."

Indianapolis, Dec. 12.—The legislative visiting committee has just concluded the inspection of the only state institutions in the world that are managed by women. They are the Indiana woman's prison in this city, and the Indiana girls' school at Clermont. At each place the superintendent and members of the board of trustees are women. Members of the committee expressed the belief that the men in charge of other state institutions will have to look to their laurels to equal the record set by the women, both in the financial management and in the care of the inmates.

At the woman's prison the contrast between the conditions now existing and those under which the prisoners were kept when the prison was a part of the Jeffersonville reformatory were held especially striking, and the trustees and superintendent were highly complimented by the committee.

"The early history of Indiana's woman's prison," said Representative Joseph M. Cravens, chairman of the committee, "is a forgotten page—never to be recalled—and it is gratifying, indeed to note the wonderful progress this institution has made both in care and manner of treatment of the inmates and the general administration of the affairs of the institution."

The woman's prison was moved to Indianapolis in 1869. Before this time it was a part of the Indiana state prison south at Jeffersonville, now the reformatory. The change was brought about through the influence of prominent women, who discovered the unspeakable abuses then in vogue at the institution. In 1899 it was changed to the Indiana Industrial School for Girls and Woman's Prison, and in 1903 the legislature provided for the separation of the girls' school from the woman's department, and the former was located at Clermont. The purpose of the school is to give delinquent girls, committed by the courts, a thorough training in domestic work and the principles of right living. Girls are taken between the ages of ten and eighteen and kept until twenty-one, unless paroled because of good conduct. The capacity of the institution is 245. The girls received during the last year number 114. The enrollment is 304, exceeding the capacity by 59 and making necessary the converting of the sitting rooms into dormitories. Among the appropriations asked is $75,000 for the erection and equipment of two additional cottages, $24,500 for a hospital and $38,000 for an administration building.

The woman's prison is divided into two departments, a penal department, with a capacity of fifty, and a correctional department, with a capacity of 100. There are fifty-eight women in each department.

ROBBED FREIGHT TRAINS

This Is the Charge Brought Against Big Four Trainmen.

Indianapolis, Dec. 12.—An organized method of plundering freight cars, in which it may be shown several conductors and brakemen on the Big Four lines running out of Indianapolis were interested, has been uncovered.

Three trainmen have been arrested and will be taken to Danville, where they have been indicted on charges of burglary and larceny. Merchandise valued at $500 was recovered from the homes of the men. Those arrested are: William L. Davis, conductor; Francis M. John, conductor; and Glenn C. Sheller, brakeman.

With Indianapolis as a clearing point and their homes for "fences," it is alleged by the detectives, the railroad men have been systematically stealing from the railroad for months. The railroad company is convinced that over $3,000 worth of goods has been stolen. It is said the men confessed.

ITALY GAINS LONG CONTESTED POINT

State Department Honors Requisition For Charlton.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—Porter Charlton, now locked up in Hoboken, the young man who has confessed that he murdered his wife, Mary Scott Castle Charlton, last June, thrusting her body into a trunk and sinking it in Lake Como, will be extradited to Italy for trial.

The announcement that the United States will honor the requisition of the Italian government was made at the state department by Secretary Knox, and came as a decided surprise, the general impression having been that this government would decline to surrender Charlton because of the construction which the Italian government has placed on the extradition treaty between the two countries. In the event of the state department having refused the extradition, Charlton, although a self-confessed murderer, would have walked out a free man because the United States courts have no jurisdiction to try the case. Now the young man will be turned over to Italian authorities as soon as papers can be made out. Life imprisonment is the severest penalty that may be imposed upon him, as the laws of Italy forbid capital punishment.

RESCUED THE COW

But in Riot Which Followed Many Were Injured.

Calcutta, Dec. 10.—The approach of the Mohammedan Bakrid festival on Dec. 13, which involves the sacrifice of cows, has, as usual, stirred the anger of the Hindus, to whom the cow is sacred. The Hindus appealed to the government to prevent the killing of cows, but the authorities refused to interfere. They, however, began to prepare to deal with riots. The storm broke prematurely when a Hindu mob rescued a doomed cow from a stable. A fierce fight followed, in which 150 persons were severely injured. The police eventually quelled the disturbance, but its recurrence is expected. The trouble is also likely at Benares, Allahabad and Cawnpore.

REDUCTION IN POSTAL DEFICIT

Eleven and a Half Millions Chopped From Big Debit.

HITCHCOCK MAKES REPORT

Postmaster General Renews Recommendation For Parcels Post—Loss in Rural Mail Service—Policy of the Department Is to Extend Service as Rapidly as Is Warranted by Increasing Population.

Washington, Dec. 12.—The annual report of Postmaster General Hitchcock says in part:

"A year ago the fiscal records of the postal service disclosed a deficit of $17,500,000, the largest in the history of the country. In the space of twelve months a reduction of $11,500,000 has been made in this deficit, the excess of expenditures over receipts as reported for the year ended June 30 last amounting to only $5,848,566.88.

"It is most gratifying to report that this unprecedented reduction has been made without any curtailment of postal facilities. On the contrary, the service has been largely extended.

"The recommendation made in the Parcel Post.

last annual report of the department for the introduction of a limited parcel post service on rural routes is earnestly renewed. It is believed that as soon as the postal savings system is thoroughly organized the postoffice department should be prepared to establish throughout the country a general parcel post.

"Next to the heavy loss resulting from the low postage rate on second class mail the principal inroad into the profits of the postal service is that made by the excessive cost of rural delivery. The large expenditures for rural mail service are far more justifiable, however, than are the much heavier payments required to meet the losses incurred on account of second class mail.

Postal Savings System.

"The board of trustees created by the act of June 25, 1910, to control, supervise and administer the postal savings system has made substantial progress in perfecting a plan of operation.

"After a most careful investigation and numerous conferences with leading bankers the board unanimously decided to adopt the plan of using certificates of deposit instead of pass books.

"The department's present policy, as already indicated, is to extend the service as rapidly as is warranted by increasing population and to accomplish its savings not by the curtailment of postal facilities, but by handling in a more systematic and businesslike manner the constantly expanding volume of the mails. In furtherance of this policy there were established during the year over 1,500 new postoffices, while the rural delivery system was greatly extended by putting into operation 515 new routes, traversing altogether 12,235 miles."

STEAMER WRECKED

Coasting Vessel Goes Ashore on Reef Off the Alaskan Coast.

Cordova, Alaska, Dec. 12.—The steamship Olympia is wrecked on Rocky Blight island, forty miles from here.

The Olympia had 106 persons aboard of whom fifty-two are passengers. A terrible storm is raging and no word has come from the wireless operator on board since early Sunday morning. Among the passengers who sailed from Cordova Saturday night are United States District Judge E. E. Cushman and wife. When the vessel sailed a fifty-mile-an-hour gale was blowing. Between midnight and 1 o'clock Sunday morning the wireless operator at the navy station picked up a distress signal from the Olympia and answered it. A reply came urging immediate help, as the vessel was in an exposed position. As no call has been received since 4 o'clock, it is feared the ship has foundered.

Two Victims Within Hour.

Pendleton, Ind., Dec. 12.—Joseph Smiley, a laborer working with graders, saved a train from wreck, but lost his life. Workman scattered on the approach of a train, but Smiley leaped back to lift a heavy crowbar from across the rails, and the train cut his body in two. An hour before Smiley was killed John Oske, another laborer, was hit by a train and died almost at the same spot.

"Bad Bill" Killed in a Duel.

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 12.—In a revolver duel at Wilbur, Breathitt county, "Bad Bill" Bailey, a mountain desperado, was killed by J. S. Shepherd. Shepherd was struck by a bullet during the fusillade of shots fired by the two men and badly wounded. It is said Bailey had a grievance against Shepherd and that he began the attack.

Prunes, when you stew them are a mighty nice thing to begin breakfast with. Don't you think so?

There is lots of difference in the kinds of prunes you get though. If you want to get real nice prunes you must go to a grocery that carries good prunes and other fruits.

Prunes are nice and healthy too. They make a good economical breakfast fruit, because you can get a whole pound of extra large ones for 15c.

PEACE AGAIN REIGNS IN BRAZIL'S CAPITAL

But Not Until Hundreds Had Been Killed.

Rio Janeiro, Dec. 12.—The rebellious marine corps has surrendered and the government announces that it is again in control of the situation.

Two hundred civilians in the city and more than 200 of the mutineers on the island were killed in Saturday's fighting. Many government buildings, stores, warehouses and residences were damaged during the bombardment. Martial law has been declared for a period of thirty days.

It is reported that the causes leading up to Saturday's revolt are trivial. Two warships, land batteries and several destroyers took part in the bombardment of the island.

The mutineers on the scoutship Rio Grande do Sul again bombarded the city at 5 o'clock Sunday morning. The batteries ashore replied. The people at first seemed to be little concerned, but as the firing continued and casualties were frequent, they became panic-stricken and many of them hurriedly left for inland points. Quite a number of persons were wounded and the new market was seriously damaged.

Altogether Saturday's riot was the bloodiest affair of its kind that ever took place in South America. During the bombardment, which was kept up on both sides until the Cobra Island fort was demolished, panic reigned. The booming of the guns and the explosion of shells served to drive the people into a frenzy of excitement.

Whether by accident or design, two mines of nitro-glycerine were exploded under the feet of the mutineers as they were making their last stand. Bodies by the score were hurled high in the air, and the white flag run up immediately floated over only a mere remnant of the rebellious forces.

RESCUERS PERISH

Fifty Entombed While Searching For Bodies of Forty-Five Miners.

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 12.—Fifty rescuers working in the Western Canadian collieries, Bellevue, where forty-five miners were entombed, suffered the same fate as their comrades. Eighteen men of the original number entombed were taken out alive and twenty-five bodies recovered when the shaft in which the rescuers were working tumbled in.

Working Game Through Children.

Anderson, Ind., Dec. 12.—Joseph Smith, George Masson and A. J. Van Patton, who came here from Richmond a few days ago, were placed in the county jail when they were unable to give bond after being arrested on a charge of operating a lottery. Although the men had been here but three days, they had a number of little girls making a house to house canvass, selling numbers ranging from 1 to 25. When the numbers on a card were sold, the holder of the lucky number would receive a set of silverware.

Four Murdered on Farm.

Kansas City, Dec. 12.—Mrs. Sarah Bernhard, seventy-five years old, her son George, forty years old, and a younger son and his wife were found murdered on the Bernhard farm near Martin City, twenty miles south of here. Officers believe that robbery was the motive of the murders, as the house had been ransacked and the pockets of the dead turned wrongside out.

Another Huntsman Killed.

Abe Slupsky Absorbed Twenty Bottles of Beer Daily for Thirty Days.

St. Louis, Dec. 12.—Surrounded by admiring friends, Colonel Abe Slupsky finished his task of drinking twenty bottles of beer daily for thirty days. For "good measure" he drank twenty additional bottles. When the contents of the 600th bottle trickled down his throat he became richer by $250 and an order for a suit of clothes, won on a wager.

During the drinking bout Colonel Slupsky did not taste water. But he has never refused an additional bottle of beer when a friend offered to treat. He is eleven pounds heavier than when he started, and says he feels fine.

Final Figures Make Population of the United States 93,402,151.

Washington, Dec. 12.—The total population of the United States is 93,402,151. This estimate, including Porto Rico and Hawaii, but not including the Philippine Islands, which at the last census, taken in 1903, was 7,635,426, shows that there are at present more than 101,000,000 persons who are living in territory owned by the United States.

The gain in population of the United States and its dependencies in the last decade is 16,145,521, or 20.9 per cent. The population of continental United States is 91,972,266, an increase of 15,977,691, or 21.1 per cent over 75,994,575 in 1900, when the increase was 13,048,861, or 20.7 per cent over 62,947,714, the total in 1890.

Simms is in jail in this city. Simms denies his guilt. Although the officials believe they have the man who shot Hendren, the evidence surrounding the case is thought to be circumstantial.

LIBRARY FURNITURE

THE library is something comparatively new in some houses; but, as we progress in literary ways we naturally must have a place for our books, and also a nice place to sit and read—a congenial, homey room—a place you like to stay in. And just such a place you may have, if you will come and look over our splendid line of book-cases, library tables and comfortable Morris chairs. You will be just as enthusiastic as we were when we first saw the goods, and will, no doubt, buy just the same as we did; for the prices, as well as the goods are compelling.

A Training School in Free Government

One wishes every educator might visit the George Junior Republic and learn the lessons taught by its workings. Not that it is perfect,—it is not; nothing is or ever will be, and the critical person can pick many faults. But on the whole, it is the finest and most original attempt to give boys and girls a full understanding of freedom, and of the uses and responsibilities of citizenship. If indeed you consider the Republic in the light of a vaudeville entertainment, do not go there, for your presence will be disturbing. Unless you can become vitally interested in the work, unless you already believe in the larger democracy, and are ready to bend your shoulders to the wheel, stay away from this little training school for citizenship. More than two decades have passed since Mr. William R. George began pioneering on the educational frontier. His equipment, like that of all frontiersmen, was scanty, his hardships the same in kind and quantity, while lack of resources rendered his plans difficult or realization. The work of nearly all pioneers is underestimated in their own day and generation. There were few in the struggling years of the Junior Republic who considered Mr. George's idea—as a factor in reformatory education—anything more than a pleasant, impracticable scheme, quite certain to culminate in early failure.

From "A Republic for Boys and Girls—After Twenty Years," by Jeanne Robert, in the American Review of Reviews for November.

Robert Charles Hannon of East Windsor, N. H., announces that he is the successor to the head of the Christian Science church and has engaged an attorney to bring suit against the directors of the church to support his claim. He says that Mrs. Eddy had commissioned him as her successor.

"For the past year we have kept the king of all laxatives—Dr. King's New Life Pills—in our home and they have proved a blessing to all our family," writes Paul Mathulka, of Buffalo, N. Y. "Easy, but sure remedy for all stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Only 25c at Andrews-Schwenk Drug Co."

TUESDAY EVENING

"St. Elmo" Will Be The Next Attraction at Majestic.

The blending of high spiritual resolve and human failings, of passion and hate, of love, tenderness and forgiveness and quickening romance, made "St. Elmo" a wonderfully popular book from the day it sprang complete from the pen of its author, Augusta Evans Wilson. A generation or two has moved upon the field of human action, but the book lives on, the delight of fiction lovers. Now it has been given to the stage in an adequate dramatization by Miss Grace Howard.

St. Elmo Murray, Edna Pearl, and the others whose lives were interwoven in wonderful imagery by Mrs. Wilson, will appear on the stage in the most dramatic and inspiring portions of the tale. It is an event of more than ordinary note in the development of the present theatrical season.

The date of the local appearance is tomorrow evening at the Majestic.

A Woman's Great Idea

is how to make herself attractive. But without health, it is hard for her to be lovely in face, form or temper. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation and kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. But Electric Bitters always prove a godsend to women who want health, beauty and friends. They regulate stomach, liver and kidneys, purify the blood; give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion, good health. Try them, 50c, at Andrews-Schwenk Drug Co.

Six men and one woman were arrested charged with kidnapping the boy. Guiseppe is the son of Jose Longo, an Italian grocer, who is well off financially. Before the boy was taken his father received a letter demanding $15,000.

STATESMEN AND AUTHORS PAY TRIBUTE TO MARK TWAIN

Speaker Cannon and His Prospective Successor,

Howells, Watterson and
Choate Praise Friend,
While Gathering Applauds Anecdotes.

MARK TWAIN.

By Professor HENRY VAN DYKE
of Princeton.

WE knew you well, dear Yorick of the west,
The very soul of large and friendly jest,
That loved and mocked the broad grotesque of things
In this new world where all the folks are kings.

Your breezy humor cleared the air
With sport
Of shams that haunt the democratic court,
For even where the sovereign people rule
A human monarch needs a royal fool.

Your native drawl lent flavor to your wit,
Your arrows lingered, but they always hit.
Homeric mirth around this circle ran,
But left no wound upon the heart of man.

We know you, kind in trouble,
brave in pain,
We saw your honor kept without a stain.
We read this lesson of our Yorick's years:
True wisdom comes with laughter and with tears.

AFTER the manner which his dearest friends said he would have ordered Mark Twain's memory was revered recently in New York city by an assemblage of men and women most distinguished in arts, literature, the sciences and the professions in America. There wasn't a note of sadness struck during the evening. Speeches rich in eulogy were made, but they were of the kind that brought smiles instead of tears. Two former neighbors of the famous humorist told the audience which filled auditorium, boxes and galleries in Carnegie hall that Mark Twain was quite ready to die; that he had passed on willingly, almost eagerly, after having made all the world laugh. So the purpose of the ceremonies was to further perpetuate the reign of light heartedness which had been Mark Twain's mission in life.

Great as a Lobbyist.

Authors, statesmen, a minister, a poet, told new stories about Mark Twain. Old ones were recounted and received with an acclaim which proved that a Twain story never grows old. Champ Clark, the Missourian who may be Uncle Joe Cannon's successor, praised Mark Twain as the greatest lobbyist who ever won over the house. Uncle Joe told how Mark Twain disrupted Uncle Sam's representatives with broadsides of good humor which sent the copyright bill to victory. Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to the court of St. James, revealed himself in the merriest of moods as he told of Mark Twain's activities tickling John Bull's ribs.

William Dean Howells in the opening address voiced the keynote of the meeting when he said:

"If the mood and make of our commemoration could be left to Mark Twain we might imagine him saying: 'Why, of course you mustn't make a solemnity of it; you mustn't have it that sort of obsequy. I should want you to be serious about me—that is, sincere, and you couldn't be sincere if you ran to eulogy. But we don't object here to any man's affection; we like to be liked as well as ever, and if any of you can remember some creditable thing about me I shouldn't mind his telling it, provided always he didn't blink the palliating circumstances, the mitigating motives, the selfish considerations that accompany every noble action.'

Twain Easily Satisfied.

"I shouldn't like to be made out a miracle of humor either and left a stumbling block for any one who was intending to be moderately amusing and instructive hereafter. At the same time I don't suppose a commemoration is exactly the occasion for dwelling on a man's shortcomings in his life or his literature or for realizing that he has entered upon an immortality of oblivion."

Mr. Choate recalled an occasion when

NAPOLEON'S FLAG IS FOUND.

Emblem of Chasseurs-a-Cheval Discarded For Tricolor.

Another relic of Napoleon has been found in a small town in the south of France. It is a green silk flag embroidered with the famous golden bees and a hunting horn, the banner of Napoleon's favorite regiment, the chasseurs-a-cheval.

He carried a flag of this description when he effected his escape from the Isle of Elba in 1815 and laid it down soon after landing to take up the tricolor. It is believed that this is the very flag that he carried.

India Second In Cotton.
India now ranks next to the United States as a cotton producing nation.

he and Mark Twain were together in St. George's chapel, London, one hot day, both seemingly sobered by the solemnity of the place.

"What an awful thing it is," Twain began in a whisper.

Mr. Choate said he leaned closer to catch some ponderously sad expression from the humorist.

"What an awful thing it is," Twain repeated, "to be shut up in a place where one cannot smoke!"

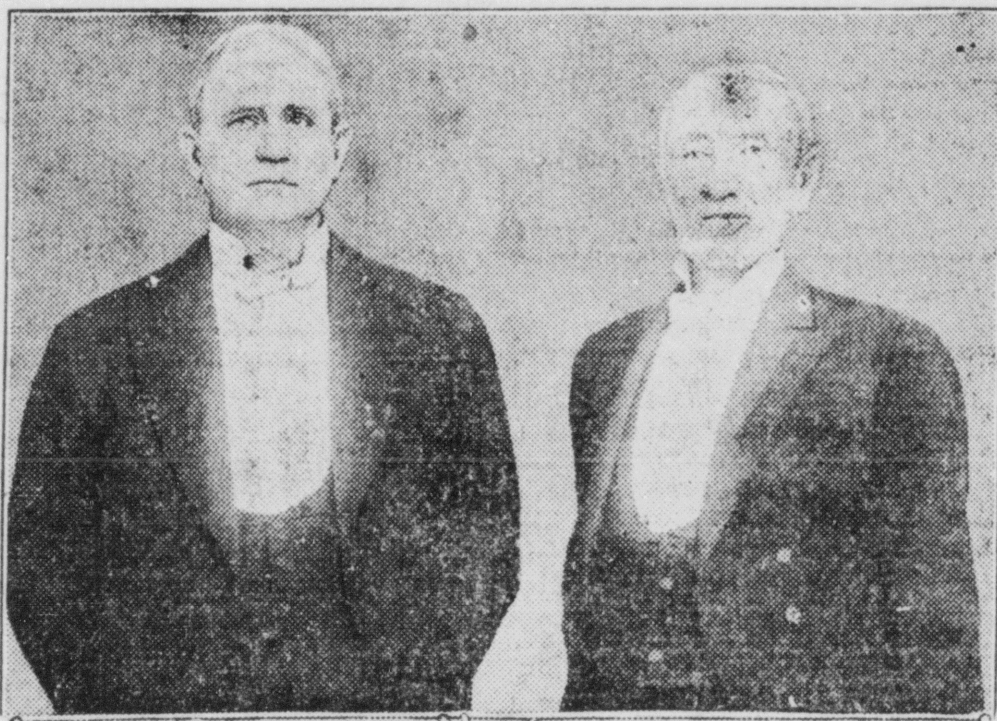

Twain once told Mr. Choate that a classical scholar tried to prove the origin of the story of the "Champion Jumping Frog" was found in writings of a Latin author. Twain listened to the reading of the ancient tale and exclaimed:

"Yes, sir; that's my frog!"

Mr. Choate sponsored the opinion that the worth of Twain's story having been recognized, some enterprising publisher inserted it in the later editions of the classics and thus was born the charge that Twain was a plagiarist.

Hobnobbed With Wales.

The Rev. Joseph Hopkins Twichell, for many years one of the humorist's closest friends, described the satisfaction with which Twain received evidence that he had been admitted into the literary guild. This satisfaction, however, never threatened his modesty or naturalness. Some time after fame had crowned him Twain received a summons while in Homburg, Germany, to spend the afternoon with the then Prince of Wales, who later was King Edward VII.

Mr. Twichell said he would never forget the picture of the prince and Twain strolling along the walks of the watering place, Twain waving an unusually disreputable looking umbrella as he shuffled along, punctuating remarks for the benefit of dignified royalty.

Twain had broad sympathies, but sometimes got peevish. "He once exclaimed to me," Mr. Twichell said. "Oh, this infernal human race! I wish I had it in the ark again—with an anchor. Would you—would you, I ask—start the human race again if you had it to do?"

On another occasion Twain said: "Nothing makes me feel quite so mean as to have my wife think I am so much better than I am."

Speaker Cannon was presented by Mr. Howells as another man besides Mark Twain who loved his cigar. The speaker said that many years before any one else present was born he used to hear the Mississippi pilots sing out, "Mark twain, mark twain!" meaning a depth of two fathoms of water, but he didn't think then that a man would spring up who would make those words famous throughout the world.

Defeated Speaker Cannon.

Mr. Cannon told how Mark Twain had gone to Washington to "lobby—yes, to lobby," repeated Speaker Cannon, in the interest of an amendment

BATHTUBS GOOD COAL BINS.

Steel Trust Finds Hygienic Benevolence Is Unappreciated.

After three years of experimenting the United States Steel corporation has come to the conclusion that its foreign workmen at Gary, Ind., do not bathe. Instead it has been found that they have used the expensive bathtubs purchased for them as storing places for potatoes, coal and old clothes. Sixty tubs were placed in as many houses.

Finding that its attempts at education in the use of bathtubs are futile, the big corporation will place no more in the houses it erects for its foreign workmen.

Shower baths will be substituted, as they cannot be used for storage bins.

to the copyright law. The humorist frankly said he wanted to protect his and his children's rights against "pirates."

Mr. Cannon said Mark Twain had a burning desire to appear on the floor of the house of representatives and argue his cause. The humorist came to see him about it, and the speaker told him it could not be done, as such a thing had never been done. He told him that none but members and ex-members had the privilege of the floor of the house. The only precedents in the cases of others were where persons had received the thanks of congress.

Soon after this Mark Twain himself brought to his desk a letter addressed to the speaker. Here is the letter:

Dec. 7
Dear Uncle Joseph—Please get me the thanks of congress; not next week but right away. It is very necessary. Do accomplish this at once, by persuasion if you can, by violence if you must, for it is absolutely necessary that I get on the floor for two or three hours and talk to the congressmen man by man. I have arguments with me; also a barrel with liquid in it. I have stayed away from congress and let it alone for seventy-one years, and I am entitled to its thanks. Congress knows this well, and it never has publicly acknowledged its appreciation. Send me a reply at once with an order on the sergeant-at-arms. With love and benediction. MARK TWAIN.

Uncle Joe told of surrendering to Mark Twain his private office and a messenger. The latter went on the floor, carried messages from Twain to the members, and the humorist soon got more than enough votes to pass his bill.

Watterson Praises Author's Wife.

In his address "Marse" Henry Watterson paid a notable tribute to the humorist's life and particularly to the estimable qualities of Mrs. Clemens.

"His marriage," said Mr. Watterson, "was the most brilliant success of his life. He got the woman of all the world he most needed; a truly lovely and wise helpmate, who kept him in bounds and headed him straight and right while she lived, the best of housewives and mothers and the safest of counselors and soundest of critics. She knew his worth; she understood his genius; she clearly saw his limitations and angles. Her death was
